

INTERNET GOVERNANCE FORUM

Multistakeholder Advisory Group Meeting

Geneva, 17-18 September 2008

Summary Report

1. The Multistakeholder Advisory Group (MAG) met in Geneva on 17-18 September 2008. The discussion was based on the agenda for the Open Consultations held on the preceding day.
2. The MAG took up the discussions on the relationship between the two types of main sessions which had been termed 'open session workshops' and 'main session debate'. It was agreed to rename these sessions to reflect better their nature. The morning sessions are now named 'panel discussions' and the afternoon sessions 'open dialogue'.
3. The 'panel discussion' sessions will consist of a chairperson and a moderator and about four panellists. The panellist will be asked to give an initial presentation of not more than seven minutes. Power point presentations are discouraged. The panel discussions attempt to explore an issue in some depth and produce a set of questions that can be taken up in the afternoon sessions. They will allow for adequate interaction with participants.
4. The 'open dialogue' sessions are designed for maximum interaction among the participants. There will be no panellists. The sessions will be lead by a chairperson and animated by a moderator. It was generally felt that a person with substantive knowledge of the issues under discussion would be best suited as a moderator.
5. The order in the schedule for the last day was reversed and it was suggested compressing the 'Taking stock the way forward session' with the closing ceremony.
6. A revised schedule for the main session is attached as an Annex to this report.
7. As regards Dynamic Coalitions, it was agreed that they would only be scheduled for a meeting slot in Hyderabad if they had submitted a report describing significant activities in the last year. They are given an extension of the deadline for submitting such a report until 30 September.
8. A final version of the rolling document with the revised draft programme outline will be posted shortly.
9. The following deadlines were set:
 - 25 September:
 - Lists of panellists for the panel discussions.
 - 30 September:
 - Submission of final programme for all workshops, best practice forums, open forums and Dynamic Coalition meetings.
 - Submission of Dynamic Coalition activity reports.
12. The MAG also discussed how to approach the "formal consultations with Forum participants" on the "desirability of the continuation of the Forum" as stipulated by Para 76 of the Tunis Agenda. It was agreed to set aside one day during the next February consultations to gain a common understanding on how best to conduct this process. It was concluded that it was the Secretary-General's prerogative to decide on how to hold these formal consultations, including whether or not to request an outside evaluation.
13. A list of participants is attached to this report.
